Sam & Megan Berger took over as stewards of The Little Free Library from Valerie Root in the summer of 2023. Valerie introduced the community to the Little Free Library concept on July 24, 2014. Thank you, Valerie, for your many years championing reading in our community.

How it works is simple. Stop by the library and take whatever looks interesting to you. After you are finished with the book, return it, or if you are so infatuated with it and you can't part with it, return another book instead.

This is a great chance to clean out your books and donate them to a good cause.

Little Free Library is a movement started by two Wisconsinites and has grown to include little libraries in most states and dozens of countries. The Little Free Library's Mission is to:

- ❖ Promote literacy and the love of reading by building free book exchanges worldwide.
- ❖ Foster a sense of community and connection by sharing skills, creativity, and wisdom across generations.
- ❖ Build more than 2,510 libraries around the world (the number of "real" libraries built by Andrew Carnegie)!
